DRAMATIC SCENE AS GREAT TRIAL OPENS

Ortie E. McManigal Pleads Guilty in Dynamite Plot Case Before Judge Anderson.

CHARGE AGAINST THREE DISMISSED

Government's Star Witness Pleads Guilty.

ORTIE E. M'MANIGAL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—Stationed within a rail in the small court room, where they occupied almost half the space, the defendants charged with complicity in the McNamara "dynamite plots" were placed on trial before Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson today.

Judge Anderson at 9:45 a. m., ordered called "consolidated case No. 3, the United States versus Frank M. Ryan, et al."

At the outset Ortie McManigal pleaded guilty. Eugene A. Clancy and Olaf Tvietmoe, of San Francisco, pleaded not guilty. All the other defendants at their arraignment last March had pleaded not guilty.

Daniel J. Brophy, Brooklyn, N. Y., a former executive board member of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was reported unable to appear on account of a broken leg. His absence left fifty men to be tried.

Motion is Sustained.

A motion to set aside the order consolidating the cases, made on behalf of the defendants, was sustained. This separated the various indictments but left the defendants to be tried together.

McManigal, aged about forty years, chubby and of a florid complexion, entered the court room grinning. His eyes twinkled keenly as he glanced at the other defendants. He closely scrutinized one by one the men with whom, he asserts, he once was associated, but against whom he now is arrayed as a prosecuting witness. As he looked not a sign of recognition, other than McManigal's inscrutable grin, passed between them.

"Ortie E. McManigal, do you plead guilty or not guilty to the charges against you?" asked Judge Anderson.

Scene Was Dramatic.

The scene was dramatic. All the windows of the court room had been curtained to exclude outside annoyance and the padding on the walls, provided to deaden noise, seemed to intensify the silence. A score of attorneys leaned forward to hear the prisoner's reply.

McManigal rubbed the back of his hand across his chin and grinned again.

"I plead guilty, your honor," he said.

McManigal's plea qualified him as a witness for the government, for which purpose he had been imprisoned for eighteen months. But it occasioned no surprise, for he already had confessed to his operations as a member of the McNamara "dynamiting crew," to having carried nitroglycerine and dynamite in a suit case from state to state on passenger trains and to having actually blown up the Llewellyn Iron works at Los Angeles on Dec. 25, 1910, for complicity in which John J. McNamara was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

Long in Custody.

McManigal, the "J. W. McGraw" of the Pacific coast, has been in custody ever since his arrest with James B. McNamara in a hotel in Detroit on April 12, 1910. When arrested, each with a suit case filled with enough dynamite and nitroglycerine to blow up the hotel, they were wedging their way through a crowd of theatrical people gathered in the lobby.

On motion of the government the cases against J. W. Irwin, Peoria, Ill.; Andrew J. Kavanaugh, Springfield, Ill., and Patrick H. Ryan, Chicago, were dismissed. The government announced it had no evidence against them to warrant their trial. All of the men had been identified with the iron workers' union.

Ask for Separate Trials.

"We ask for a separate trial for each of the defendants," announced Attorney Hovey.

"What reasons have you for that?" asked Judge Anderson.

"Because some defendants are charged with overt acts of carrying dynamite and nitroglycerine and some with aiding and abetting McManigal."

"Overruled," said the court.

Another motion was made by District Attorney Miller for a re-consolidation of the cases with the understanding that the government select a definite number of counts which are to stand, dismissing all the other counts.

Mr. Miller said the government would elect to try the defendants each on these counts:

Five counts charging conspiracy.

Fifty counts charging direct violation.

The work of selecting a jury then began.

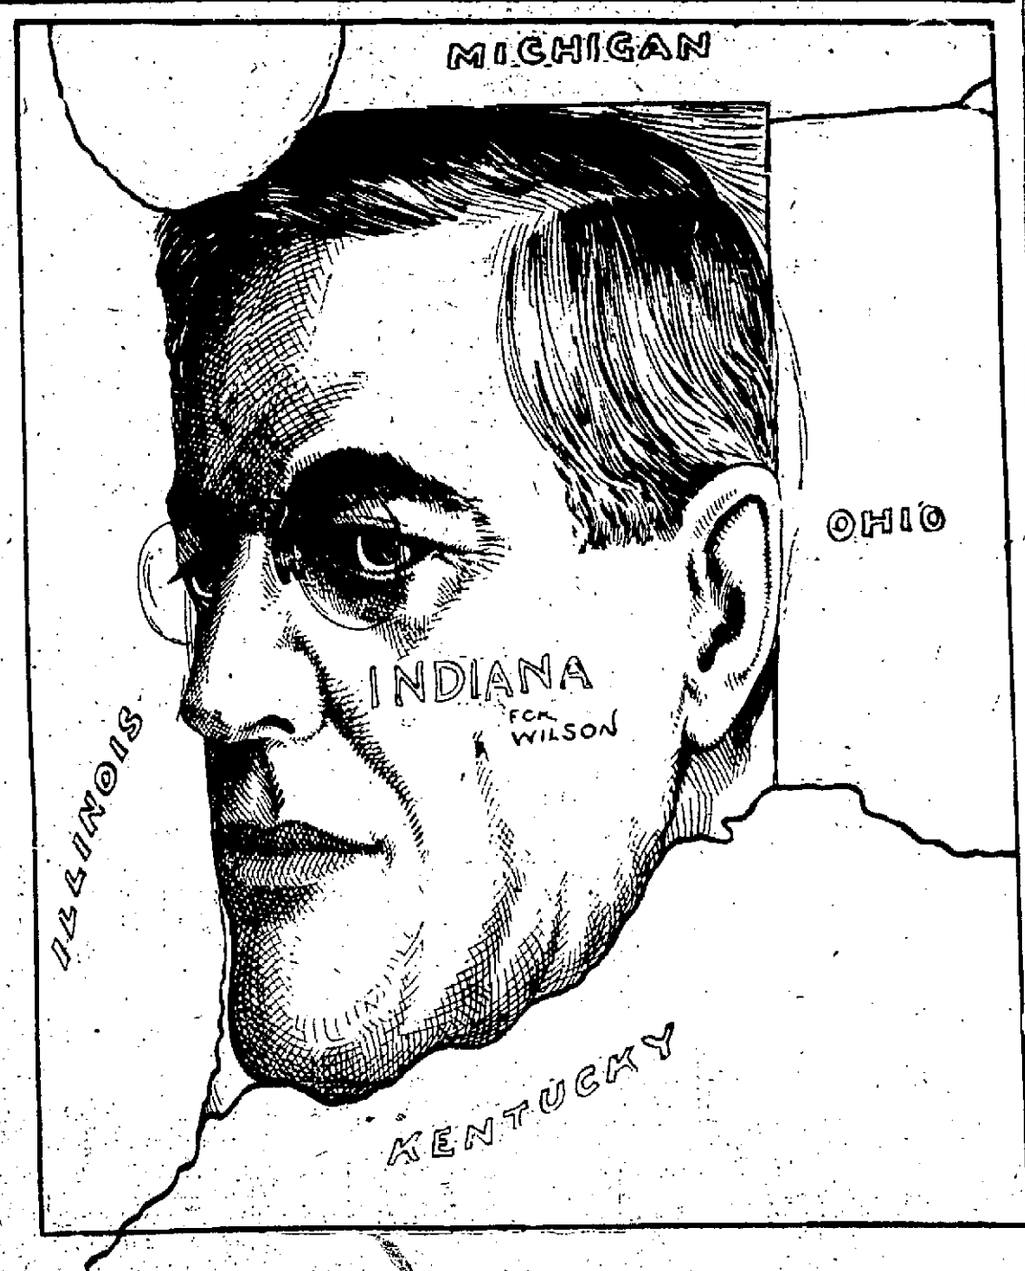
The Political Complexion of Indiana



The campaign has certainly developed some interesting features.

FLINN REAL READY MONEY

Pittsburg Boss Has Spent $144,000 in Roosevelt Campaign.

TOTAL OF $102,000 IN PENNSYLVANIA

Chicago Man Gave $70,000 Each to Wilson and La-Follette Funds.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The total expenditures of Wm. Flinn, of Pittsburg, in the 1912 progressive campaign, have been $144,308.20, according to a statement he gave to the senate campaign expenditure committee today. The total "Roosevelt expenditures," covering Mr. Flynn's personal activity as leader of the Roosevelt forces in Pennsylvania were $99,384.18, but the statement showed an additional sum of $9,080 "expended by John S. Weller, treasurer of the Roosevelt league."

Other amounts expended by Mr. Flinn came under the head of expenditures in republican and progressive organization work, which Mr. Flinn did not characterize as "Roosevelt expenditures."

The statement given to the committee when it reconvened after lunch today was in answer to the repeated demands of Senator Oliver and Chairman Clapp to know what amount the Pittsburg man had spent for all campaign purposes.

Mr. Flinn's Statement.

The statement follows:

"Total expenditures in Allegheny county, $28,300.18.

"Cost of postcards in state of Pennsylvania outside of Allegheny county, $29,065.

EXPLOSION ON A DESTROYER

Officer Killed and Eight Men Injured Aboard the Walke.

STEAMCHEST LETS GO AS TRIAL NEARS

Other Craft Plunge Through Gale to Rescue as Signals Are Hoisted.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 1.—Lieut. Donald P. Morrison was killed and eight men injured today by the explosion of the steamchest on the torpedo boat destroyer Walke.

The accident occurred off Brenton's reef light ship while the Walke was preparing for her second quarterly trial. Lieut. Morrison entered the service from Missouri in 1902.

The Seriously Injured.

The seriously injured were:

Lieut. Robert L. Montgomery, of the destroyer Fanning; E. B. Crawford, gunner's mate of the destroyer Patterson, the umpires named to watch the tests and the following gunners of the Walke's crew:

J. W. Rumps, machinist's mate, first class; H. L. Wilder, machinist's mate, first class; D. S. Kelly, chief machinist's mate; J. Delaney, first class fireman; W. E. Kraus and F. B. Conway, oiler.

The Walke was in company with several other destroyers when the forward end of the port turbine, together with the steamchest, was blown off.

Was Instantly Killed.

Lieut. Morrison, the chief engineer officer of board, was instantly killed and the others were badly scalded.

Signals were at once hoisted for assistance and a wireless dispatch was sent to Rear Admiral Osterhaus, on board his flagship, Connecticut, at anchor off Jamestown.

The destroyers Perkins, Sterrett and Warrant immediately went to the assistance of the Walke. A heavy southerly gale was blowing, but efforts were made to send a line on board the damaged craft.

It was then discovered her star board engine was in commission. The Walke steamed back into the harbor and the wounded transferred to the hospital ship Solace.

STRUCK BY FAST TRAIN.

Horse Killed on B. & O. Near Albion—Buggy Demolished.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Albion, Ind., Oct. 1.—The fast train, No. 6, east-bound, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad struck a horse and buggy at 8:30 o'clock this morning at a crossing one mile west of this city and killed the horse and smashed the buggy of Jerry McMichaels, a farmer living in this county. There was no occupant of the buggy at the time. While holding the horse for the train to pass it got away from Mr. McMichael and dashed on to the track just in time to be struck by the locomotive.

WAS WIDELY KNOWN

Samuel Heilbroner, one of Fort Wayne's most venerable and highly respected citizens, and the oldest Jewish resident of Allen county, died suddenly at 1:30 o'clock this morning at the family residence, 220 West Wayne street, at the age of eighty-four years. Mr. Heilbroner was apparently in his usual good health when he retired about 9:30 o'clock, and was ill only one-half hour. Death was due to hardening of the arteries.

Mr. Heilbroner had been a resident of Fort Wayne for sixty years, and was one of the four surviving charter members of Achduth Veshalom temple in this city. The other three are Abraham Oppenheim, of Logansport; Marx Frank and Leopold Freiburger, of this city. HUMAN LIFE OF FIRST CONCERN

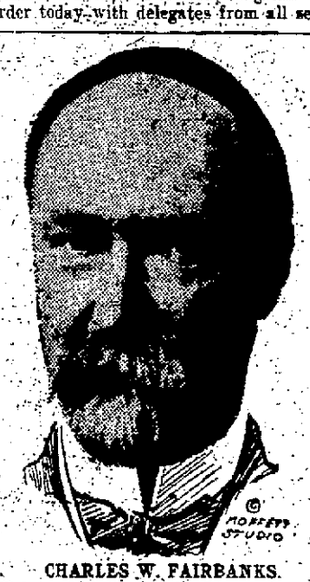
Urged by President White at Conservation Congress.

SESSION UNDER WAY

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—John B. White of Kansas City, president of the Conservation congress, called the fourth annual convention of the congress to order today with delegates from all sections of the country. President White in his annual address urged greater attention to the conservation of human life and the various ways in which it might be lengthened.



CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS.
Welcomed Delegates in Behalf of Governor Marshall.

Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, was President Taft's representative at the congress.

"The truest of all indications of the interest with which President Taft regards the conservation of the natural resources of this country," said Mr. Stimson, "lies in the character of the man he has placed at the head of the department of the interior, in order to conserve them—Walter L. Fisher."

Mr. Stimson praised the ability of Mr. Fisher and turinig to his own department said as the department of war had little to do with the conservation of life, he would have to deal with the material side of conservation. He reviewed the progress of conservation as to river transportation and water power regulation.

President White of the congress read a letter expressing President Taft's regrets for his inability to attend.

Charles W. Fairbanks in welcoming the delegates on behalf of Governor Marshall, reviewed the principles of conservation and made a plea especially for the conservation of forests.

STRENUOUS TIME FOR THE COLONEL

FIGHT AT ONE POINT

Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 1.—E. C. Duncan, republican national committeeman from North Carolina, was attacked by Col. Roosevelt in his speech here.

"In the primaries in North Carolina last spring I won," Col. Roosevelt said, "carrying counties by 2 to 1, 41 to 1 and even 10 to 1. The national committeeman, Mr. Duncan, took part in stealing the nomination from me. Mr. Duncan was not engaged in highway robbery. It was not as nervy as that. It was sneak-thief business. Mr. Duncan and the other 40 or 50 obscure shady men on the national committee did the bidding of the men behind them—men like those on the tobacco trust. You know the part the tobacco trust has played in North Carolina and so do I."

Ended With a Fight.

BALKAN STATES PREPARE FOR WAR

Anxious to Attack Turkey While Latter is Fighting Italy.

WAR FEVER IS HIGH

London, Oct. 1.—The armies of the Balkan states are preparing for war with feverish activity. The mobilization order given out yesterday is being put into effect with all speed, according to despatches received here.

The various nations concerned appear to believe that the longed for moment has at last arrived when they will be called upon to march against Turkey. There still remain but two points in regard to which diplomats can continue to maintain optimism. The first of these is the fact that winter is approaching and will render active war operations difficult; while the second is that the European powers are working in accord and have warned the belligerent little states that whatever might be the outcome of a war, they would not be allowed to extend any of their borders so as to take in a portion of Macedonia.

Everything, according to the dispatches from the disturbed center, seems ripe for the long expected conflagation in the near east.

The Turkish government, diplomats assert, would like to find an easy way out of the present war with Italy and thinks a war in the Balkans would give the Turkish nation the outlet. The Balkan states, at the same time, are anxious to get at their big neighbors while she is involved with one of the great powers.

The report showed further that the initiates last year were 6283 in the lodge, 5,697 in the council, 5,694 in the chapter and 5,779 in the consistory. Tonight the thirty-third degree will be conferred with full ceremonial upon 78 candidates.

BRUCE BROWN HAS FRACTURED SKULL

Famous Auto Driver Perhaps Fatally Hurt as Car Overturns.

ANOTHER WITH HIM

Race Course, Wauwatosa, Wis., Oct. 1.—David Bruce Brown, while driving his big Fiat down the track stretch of Vanderbilt cup automobile course about noon overturned and he and his mechanician, Tony Scudelari, were injured but not seriously. Both were taken to a hospital.

The mechanician is said to be in a more serious condition than Brown.

Brown and his mechanician, at 1:50 this afternoon, were said to be very low.

After the accident Brown regained consciousness long enough to ask for his mother.

Ralph DePalma, who was the only one of the drivers to know Mrs. Brown's address in New York, sent a message asking her to come to Milwaukee as quickly as possible. Telegrams were sent to the wives of Brown and his mechanician.

Later physicians announced that both men were suffering from fractured skulls and that operations would be necessary.

ESCAPE DEATH IN WRECK; PASSENGERS FLEE FIRE.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Two Pullman sleeping cars, four day coaches and two express cars broke away from a rapidly moving Louisville and Nashville train, near Elkmont, Ala., early today, plunged down an embankment, then caught fire and burned, but every passenger escaped death and less than a score received minor injuries. An express messenger, caught in the wreckage of his car, was cremated.

Occupants of the Pullmans were compelled to flee in their night clothing, abandoning all their baggage. It is believed a broken rail was the cause of the accident.

The Message That Strayed

MR. CHERWOOD, an instructor at the International Business college, was answering a call at the telephone. "Yes certainly," said he, "I will be very glad to tell her," whereupon he set out to find Miss Emrich, one of the students, in order to convey to her the message which had come over the 'phone for her.

Approaching one of the young lady students, Mr. Cherwood said to her, "I just took a telephone message for you over the phone. Your mother wanted me to tell you not to buy that waist pattern. She said you would understand."

The young woman looked puzzled as she asked Mr. Cherwood to "say it again."

He said it.

"Well," said the student, I haven't the slightest idea what it is all about. My mother and I haven't spoken about any waist pattern."

It was Mr. Cherwood's turn to look puzzled. After a moment's serious reflection, he asked, "Well, you are Miss Emrich, aren't you?"

"Not quite," replied the student with a laugh, "but pretty near it—I'm Miss Ekrich."

Then the matter was straightened out, for Miss Emrich was located without much delay. The story, however, had preceded Mr. Cherwood to the office and the interested friends enjoyed a laugh at his expense.

"I Will be Glad to Tell Her."

HOME PIE LURED MISSING CADET

AND SHOW UNIFORM

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Parties which had been searching the surrounding country for news of Walter David Mangan, a cadet in the United States Military academy, who mysteriously disappeared from the military reservation, were called in when it was learned that the cause of the young plebe's disappearance was an uncontrollable desire to put his feet under his father's table once more after three months of army beef anad beans.

Mangan, whose home is in Pittsfield, Mass., left the Military academy recently. At the time he was supposed to be without funds and his disappearance led to a search of the surrounding country, which was without avail. As he had been known several times during his short career as a cadet to express a longing for one of his mother's Massachusetts pies and also to walk down the main secret of his home town in his cadet's uniform with the brass buttons, which were just as large and shiny as those on his father's uniform (father is a Pittsfield policeman), it was finally decided that this longing was the cause of his wandering away.

Search was directed to Pittsfield, where it was said that Mangan was on his way back to West Point after having had his feet under father's table for three meals, eating three of his mother's pies and walking up and down the main street in his uniform all one evening. After the pies and the walk, Mangan is said to have stated that he was willing to live on army beef and beans for three months more at least.

As the authorities at the Military academy are disposed to be somewhat lenient with homesick plebes, and as Mangan had no discredit marks against him up to the time of his disappearance, it is not believed that he will be severely punished for succumbing to the attack of homesickness. Mangan entered West Point June 14, 1912, and is twenty years old.

MANY LAWYERS IN BIG DAMAGE SUIT

W. F. Carpenter Wants $10,000 for Bodily Injuries.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

If William F. Carpenter does not win his damage suit in the circuit court against Contractor John Suelzer, sr., it won't be because of a lack of legal representation. The young man alleges that while he was employed by Mr. Suelzer, engaged in working at the Old National bank building, he fell and sustained injuries which have permanently crippled him. He wants damages to the amount of $10,000 and is represented in his suit by Thomas & Townsend, Harper & Eggeman and Wilbur Carpenter.

The case is being tried before a jury and occupied the entire day. During the afternoon the young man exhibited the extent of his injuries to the jury, showing that one limb is much shorter than the other, and much smaller in circumference, alleging that these defects are due to the injuries suffered at the time of his fall.

THREATS COME TO OFFICIALS

Violence if Ettor and Giovanniti Are Not Freed at Salem.

W. D. HAYWOOD THERE

Salem, Mass., Oct. 1.—Threats of violence if Jos. J. Ettor and Arturo Giovanniti, leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, and Jos. Caruso, who are on trial here charged with responsibility for the alleged murder of Anna Lopizzo are not given their liberty were received today by District Attorney Harry C. Attwill, who is prosecuting the case and by City Marshal Patrick Lehan, in charge of the Essex county court house in which the trial is being held.

The opening session of the court was taken up with examination by Judge Quinn of the talesmen. Wm. Haywood came to Salem hoping to see Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso.

Two seats in the jury box were occupied and nearly 250 talesmen were awaiting examination when the trial was resumed in the superior court here today. One hundred and six of the venire were called before the court yesterday and questioned as to their qualifications for jury duty. A dozen who were acceptable to the district attorney and his associates were challenged by one or another of the defendants and about the same number were objected to by the commonwealth. It was expected the examination of talesmen would proceed more rapidly today.

SAW TREE FLOATING IN SEA.

Steamer's Crew Reports an Unusual Sight on Trip.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1.—A large tree, fully leaved out, and with its branches alive with birds of gay plumage, floated in the sea 100 miles from any land, according to officers and passengers of the steam Limon, which arrived here from Jamaica.

The tree was encountered off the west coast of Cuba. About thirty feet of it was clear above the water line and it stood up right as if embedded in the ocean bottom. The officers of the steamer were of the opinion that the tree went afloat in a cave-in on some shore line, and retained sufficient soil and rocks entwined in its roots to serve as ballast.

EXPECT TRAINMEN'S STRIKE.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 1.—Three hundred trainmen of the Georgia railroad are expected to strike today. Their representatives conferred with others of the railroad union early this morning in an effort to reach a settlement of the controversy but no agreement resulted. The immediate cause of the men's decision to strike was the refusal of the railroad to re-instate Conductor J. T. Paschal, who was discharged for alleged violation of the hours of service law.

Samuel H. Hyde Dies in Electric Chair at Columbia, S. C.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 1.—Samuel H. Hyde, of Anderson, S. C., who killed his wife and her father, W. B. Beasley, at Orr Mill more than a year ago, was electrocuted here to-day. The date of Hyde's execution had been set for last July, but penitentiary officials thought he was mentally unbalanced, so a commission of alienists spent several weeks in examining the prisoner. They concluded Hyde was sane.

Hyde forced his way into the Beasley home where his wife had been staying. After he killed her, in leaving the house he encountered Beasley. There was a brief scuffle, then Hyde fatally shot his father-in-law.

NO CHEAPER BEEF IN SIGHT.

Secretary Wilson Sees No Prospect of Lower Prices.

Washington, Oct. 1.—"I see no hope of beef getting much cheaper," said Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, yesterday. Fresh from a vacation in the west, Mr. Wilson declared that there was a much greater scarcity of cattle than he had realized.

"The breeding grounds of stock cattle," said Mr. Wilson, "heretofore sent to the corn belt to be finished by fattening on corn cannot furnish much more of that class of cattle. Homesteaders have compelled the ranchmen to dispose of their cattle stock. There is a supply of meat that epople should become accustomed to eating—mutton. Mutton on the hoof is less than half the price of beef."

SHE LOST HER HAIR AND GOT IT BACK WITH HERPICIDE

Don't become discouraged simply because your hair falls and is thin, weak and wispy, until you have tried Herpicide. "I first began to use Newbro's Herpicide three years ago, after a spell of fever, which caused me to become almost bald. Herpicide soon restored the quantity and natural color of my hair. I feel lost without a bottle of Herpicide in the house." Thus Mrs. Anna C. Layn, 821 Second Ave., Louisville, Ky., tells in her own words how she lost her hair and how she got it back. Mrs. Layn's experience has been duplicated a thousand times, and can be repeated thousands more.

Newbro's Herpicide keeps the hair and scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. When the hair papilla has not been destroyed by the ravages of the dandruff germ, the hair will resume its suspended growth.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and checks falling hair. The itching of the scalp stops almost instantly. Others imitate and make similar claims, but the original dandruff germ destroyer is Herpicide.

Applications of this wonderful remedy may be obtained at any good barber shop.

Send 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R, Detroit, Mich.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Bradley Bros., Special Agents.—Adv.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes the scum from the tongue, sweetens a sour, gassy, bilious stomach; cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels without gripe or nausea.

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas, you belch undigested food and feel sick and miserable, it means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carrid off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids and that these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physic. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartic pills. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick; then they do this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a bowel washday—That is all wrong. If you will take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, you will never realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the poisonous matter, sour bile and clogged-up waste will be moved on and out of your system, thoroughly but gently—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. Taking Syrup of Figs is a real pleasure. Don't think you are drugging yourself; it is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, and constant use can not cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.—adv.

The Allen County Ticket.

While very naturally chief political interest in a presidential campaign is absorbed by national figures and national problems, Allen county voters should not lose sight of the fact that local democracy is offering to the people this year a county ticket that is freely accorded rank as one of the best ever nominated, and that it deserves, as it doubtless will receive, the hearty commendation of the voters, not alone democrats, but of men of other political faiths as well.

The democratic nominees represent the expressed will of the party at a primary. The candidates were chosen directly by the voters after there had been a free and fair contest for the nominations, and the ticket is therefore a majority expression of the party voters. The ante-primary race was one of the liveliest in local politics in many years, yet there was no charge of trickery or unfairness in the make-up of the ticket, and if there were disappointments over the failure of this or that candidate to capture a nomination, they have apparently passed and the party is unitedly supporting the ticket. But there is still a more potent reason than party regularity why the county ticket deserves well of the voters. It is because it is composed of men of fine ability and high integrity who give promise of rendering high-class service in the discharge of the duties with which the people will undoubtedly entrust them. The democratic ticket merits your support.

Colonel Roosevelt's Chattanooga reference to Governor Marshall as "a representative of the Taggart machine in Indiana" makes it apparent that the colonel has overlooked an incident or two in Indiana political history. Governor Marshall's spirited battle against the Taggart forces on the senatorship question two years ago, and his decisive victory on that occasion, would hardly entitle him to a certificate of good standing in whatever remnant of Mr. Taggart's machine organization may yet be in running order. Not everybody in Indiana agrees invariably with Governor Marshall in his political course, but it will be generally agreed in this state that he has given little evidence of being a part of anybody's "machine." In short, the governor has been the governor from the day of his inauguration.

The remarkable ease with which a public official can create trouble for himself finds its latest illustration in the claim that some 240,000 applicants for the 36,000 fourth-class postmasterships in the country are about to take up arms against President Taft because he proposes to give those already in the places a life tenure on the job by applying the civic service classification to them. After all, a good deal of patriotism is inspired by the ultimate hope of getting within striking distance of the pie-counter.

This tremendous volume of general business is a splendid thing, but if it is going to inflict a coal famine upon us because of a car shortage with winter looming just ahead, the average man will give his consent for business to drop back into second speed until he gets his coal bunkers filled.

Meanwhile, do not forget that if you haven't registered, next Monday, October 7, is the last opportunity you will have for performing this duty. If you fail then, you do not vote in November.

TAXATION AND PROSPERITY.

(Indianapolis News.)

It would be interesting to see the protectionists subjected to the test suggested by Senator Gore in his speech last night. He proposed that every article sold in our shops should be tagged with two prices—one the price plus the tariff tax and the other the price less that tax. Under this arrangement, those who believed in protection would, of course, elect to pay the tax-increased price, while those who held that taxation was not a blessing, but a burden, would pay the lower price. In other words, the senator's idea is to make "visible" the "invisible tax" spoken of by Governor Marshall in his Grand Rapids speech.

We very much fear that with this scheme in force there would be a large decrease in the number of protectionists. People, no matter what their political philosophy, do not enjoy paying for an article more than it is worth, and certainly they do not enjoy paying taxes. The difficulty is that, because of the "invisibility" of the system, they do not understand that this is what they are doing. Suppose, to put the case another way, that it was no crime to smuggle, but that the government simply used every effort to prevent it, permitting the legal sale of the goods after they had once got into the country. We doubt whether there would be any difficulty in selling them, even to protectionists. Indeed, high tariff people have been known to buy smuggled goods even under present conditions—have been known to smuggle themselves.

Though Senator Gore's test can never be applied in the way that he humorously suggested, each man may apply it to himself and thus test his own devotion to the protective system. Would he pay New York prices for beef when it was possible for him to get it at London prices? Unless he would it can not be said that he is very strong in the faith. What ordinary human beings want in this world is the greatest amount of the world's good things at the least expenditure of human effort and sacrifice.

FARM COOKING AND DRUG HABIT.

(New York World.)

Health Commissioner Hurty of Indiana, in a paper read at the hygienic congress, held bad farm cooking and the unsanitary conditions of farm life accountable for the farmers' ill-health and recourse to stimulants and drugs. "The frying pan is overworked," said Dr. Hurty. "I believe it is the bad air, the polluted drinking water, the neglect of the bath, the poor bread and fried embalmed meats which cause the farmer to buy so largely of patent medicines."

On what is this wholesale indictment of farm cooking based? There are no Waldorf kitchens in farm houses, but neither is the farm cooking of Indiana the same thing as the farm cooking of New England, nor is it in the south what it is in the Dakotas. Unless farmers' wives of this generation have lost a skill their mothers possessed, the native American farmer at least sits down to hearty and reasonably well-cooked meals.

The danger of generalization in such cases is seen in Dr. Hurty's representation that farm-house cellars, cupboards, bedrooms, barns and ash-heaps are full of patent medicine bottles, in use or discarded. According to the census report, the total value of the patent medicines, compounds and druggists' preparations manufactured in 1909 was $141,242,000. This was an average of $1.50 or say two bottles, for everybody in the country. If farmers monopolized the output to anything like the extent asserted, there was little left for the rest of us.

BUNKOED!

Harding, in Brooklyn Eagle.

OUR LITTLE DAY.

The dew awakes in its hammock of the grass at kiss of the light.

Through great burnished gates a golden chariot rolls. Some Elijah must be ascending.

Every fluttering leaf a psalm. Every opening flower a censer. Every bird a chorister.

Morning!

Let us call it birth.

Life for the day is but an epitome of a lifetime.

We wake in the morning with no knowledge of where our senses have been wandering while the body slept; with vigor and interest we enter upon our work and fulfill our duties with an energy that begins to fail as the evening shadows lengthen; as darkness comes weariness settles upon us, and we are glad to lay aside our work and cares and to surrender ourselves to the deeper sleep that spirits the soul back again into the unknown.

Each day has its own allotted task—no more. It is only when we go beyond that which is given us for the day and force the mind and body to do things not worth while; when we are not content to bear the evils of the day; but harass ourselves with anticipations of those the future may bring; when we are not satisfied with the "daily bread" for which one wiser than we taught us to pray, but strive to lay up a useless surplus to leave behind; when the pleasures that were given us to enjoy in wholesome moderation degenerate into sensuous excesses— it is only then that outraged nature enforces sentence for the violation of her laws, and sanitariums and lunatic asylums are filled with victims of ill-regulated lives.

The sinking sun strikes the horizon and its glow splinters into a thousand gleaming shafts. Unlike the flaming sword that drove out man from Eden, these fiery splendors seem swords unsheathed by angel hands to drive us in.

In the shallowing sky a star comes timidly to wade, vanguard of the myriads of worlds soon to be seen clearly.

Night!

Let us call it death.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Romary are moving into their new home at 1430 Stophlet street.

UP TO THE BUSINESS MEN.

Playgrounds Cannot Be Reopened if Funds Are Not Secured.

The Playgrounds association is preparing to send 500 letters to the business men of Fort Wayne. Appeal is made for liberal contributions to the playgrounds fund, and unless the business men respond the children's romping places cannot be reopened in the spring.

The executive committee of the association has decided upon this method of procedure, as the parties which paid the expenses during the year just closed, are unwilling to do so next year. Much indebtedness has accrued against the association, and it was stated yesterday by a member of the executive committee that what is needed is a fund created by business men and citizens that will be of sufficient proportions to pay off the indebtedness of the association and leave a balance which will enable the school and park boards to co-operate in such a way that new features can be added to the grounds. The fate of the playgrounds probably will be decided before next week.

BIRDS' NESTS CAUSE FIRE.

Department Called to Factory Twice in Twelve Hours.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 1.—Birds' nests and the cold weather called all the fire fighting equipment in this city to the Reeves & Co. factory twice in twelve hours. The first fire alarm was caused when birds' nests caught fire in the cupola of the foundry, and this set fire to the roof. The damage was small. The fire alarm box from which the alarm had been turned in was set and the drop in temperature is thought to have contracted the metal until the mechanism was sprung and a second alarm came in a few hours later. Owing to the size of the Reeves factory, both fire companies and all members of the fire department responded to alarms there.

PRESIDENT TALKS UP.

Time to Quit Temporizing, Says Taft to Republicans.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 1.—Some of the people now posing as third party men will wake up after the election and find themselves alone. We would be glad to welcome them back to the republican party but they must come back as whole republicans—they must support the national, state and local tickets."

That was the substance of President Taft's message last night to the republican club of Beverly. The president continued by advising against a policy of temporizing.

"It's time to quit temporizing," he said. "If a man is a republican let him say so and let him support the ticket. If he is not throw him out of the party."

The president made only a short talk to his fellow republicans of the summer capital, and afterward spoke to the Beverly Italian club in the city hall on citizenship. Later he attended the weekly meeting of the Beverly Masons.

"Total expenditures in Pennsylvania for Roosevelt delegates, $94,844.88.

"Total expenditures outside of the state of Pennsylvania, $4,441.30.

Total Roosevelt expenditures $99,384.18.

Contributed to the Allegheny county republican party organization expenses, $8,221.76.

Expenditures of Paul S. Ache, $17,348.35.

Expenditures of John S. Weller, treasurer Roosevelt league, $9,080.

Expenditures by A. W. Powell $1,100.

Expenditures of republican state organization $4,000.

Personal expenditures attending the republican national convention $711.85.

Expenses of republican state convention $1,874.70.

Expenses of progressive national convention $487.46.

Contributions to Washington party state committee $1,500.

Total expenditures $144,308.29.

"This statement," said Mr. Flinn, "shows the total of all contributions by me, of all kinds and character for political purpose during the 1912 campaign up to date."

E. H. Hooker, treasurer of the progressive party, told the committee that Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, had contributed $70,000 to Senator LaFollette's campaign fund and $70,000 to Gov. Wilson's fund prior to the Baltimore convention practically at the same time.

Mr. Flinn said the contributions other than his own did not aggregate more than $20,000.

Willing to Pay the Bill.

"I didn't ask for any contributions," said he. "I did not know what the bill was going to be, but I was perfectly willing to pay it."

Mr. Flinn said he contributed $1,000 to the Roosevelt campaign in Massachusetts. He also admitted a contribution of $1,000 to Senator LaFollette's campaign.

"That was before I was a Roosevelt man," he added, and a general laugh went around.

"Did you have anything to do with trying to get southern delegates for Col. Roosevelt?" asked Senator Paynter.

"I looked 'em over," answered Flinn.

"Do you mean in a financial way?"

"No. I wanted to see how our politics were manipulated. I just looked over a sad lot," said Flinn.

Senator Pomerene wanted to know when Mr. Flinn became a follower of Roosevelt. "When did you see the light?" asked the senator.

Mr. Flinn declared he had been active in Col. Roosevelt's fight because he wanted to change conditions in Pennsylvania.

Resents An Inquiry.

While he sent an associatiate for a copy of the progressive state platform, Mr. Flinn recited its chief planks as the results he wanted to get. Senator Pomerene produced a copy of what was said to be an agreement between the late Senator Quay, Mr. Flinn and J. O. Brown under whoch political affairs in Pennsylvania were to have been apportioned between them.

"Did you write that agreement?" the senator demanded.

Mr. Flinn declared he had been called to Washington to tell about campaign expenditures and did not expect to be asked such questions.

"The committee does not care to be lectured to," said Senator Pomerene. "Did you write that agreement?"

"I'm perfectly willing to tell in my own way of my relations with Senator Quay," said Flinn.

"I insist that you shall answer in my way. Did you write that agreement?"

"Yes, I did; or rather I wrote an agreement something like that," said Flinn. "I can't tell whether that's it."

Never Intended to Sign.

The Quay-Flinn-Brown agreement purported to provide that the three men named should divide city and federal patronage equally and work together politically. It already has been published. Under the agreement Senator Quay was to have control of republican national delegates and Flinn and Brown were to control local offices. The agreement contained a clause making its effectiveness dependent upon the signature of C. L. Magee.

Mr. Flinn said he had framed the agreement to allay the opposition of Senator Quay to the republican candidate for mayor of Pittsburg: that he had never signed it and never intended to sign it, but had written it to gain time for Quay.

Roosevelt Movement Finances.

The financial operations of the Roosevelt forces in the pre-convention campaign this year, and the finances of the new progressive party were the subjects up for consideration when the senate campaign contribution committee today resume hearings.

William Flinn, the Pittsburg Roosevelt leader, and Elon H. Hooker, national treasurer of the progressive party, were under subpoena to appear for examination. When the committee got together it was expected that C. C. Tegethoff, who yesterday placed in the record the voluminous Roosevelt-Harriman correspondence, and Charles A. Peabody, counsel for Mrs. Harriman, might be recalled to allow a cross examination by Senator Pomerene, who yesterday asked for time to digest the mass of letters before questioning the witnesses.

Both Mr. Flinn and Mr. Hooker appeared when the committee assembled, however, and it was decided to proceed with their examination, taking Mr. Hooker first.

Mr. Hooker said he had acted informally as national treasurer of the Roosevelt organization in the pre-convention campaign. At the request of Chairman Clapp he placed in evidence a statement of all receipts and expenditures, $52,606.52 spent in the primary campaign in New York city.

Called It Most Complete.

"The secretary of state of New York," said Mr. Hooker, "said this was the most complete statement ever filed by a political committee."

The statement was made public at the time it was filed. It showed that $59,126.35 had been contributed and $52,6060.52 spent in the primary campaign fund.

Mr. Hooker also filed a statement of receipts and expenditures of the national primary campaign conducted by Senator Dixon.

Senator Paynter took the statement and announced that George W. Perkins was shown to have contributed $15,000 to the New York campaign and $22,500 to the national campaign and Frank A. Munsey "about the same."

"How many votes did you ket in the New York primaries?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"About 30,000—as many as Taft got," said Hooker, "but they were not counted."

Hooker Resents It.

Senator Pomerene observed that the primary expenditure was at the rate of "about $2 a vote."

Mr. Hooker vigorously resented any inference that any money was expended in an improper way.

"I believe that this national primary campaign was the most economical ever conducted," said he. "More economical than any, except the primary campaign in New York this fall."

The statement filed by Mr. Hooker, covering the national expenses of the Roosevelt primary campaign, showed a total of $143,999.62 in the fight preceding the Chicago convention. The greatest expenditure by the national organization was in Massachusetts, to which $52,000 was sent for the primary fight.

Summarized Expeditures.

The expeditures were summarized as follows: Printing and advertising, $17,000; salaries to employes, $4,000; traveling expenses, including Roosevelt and Beveridge trips, $17,000; postage and mailing, $3,000; New York national headquarters, $4,578; "sent to Senator Dixon for the Washington headquarters, $7,500."

The amounts sent to the various state campaign committees were given as follows: Massachusetts, $52,000; Maryland, $5,000; Maine, $3,500; Vermont, $2,500; Illinois, $13,500; Oklahoma, $2,500; recount in Massachusetts, $475; in Vermont, $94.

Made Big Contributions.

The Hooker statement showed total receipts of $143,999.62 and total expenditures of $141,657.64 for all national primary campaign expenses up to September 7, 1912. The list of important contributors follows: Frank A. Munsey, $19,000; George W. Perkins, $22,500; W. Emlen Roosevelt, $10,000; D. R. Hanna, $25,000; H. L. Stoddard, $4,000; Alex S. Cochrane, $10,000; W. B. Barbour, $7,500; Charles S. Bird, $5,500; Oscar L. Strauss, $500; E. D. Brandege, $1,000; Hamilton Fish, $1,000; Frederick Whitridge, $1,000; Herman Frasch, $10,000; Frank B. Keech, $1,000; J. D. Larkin, $1,000; Olivia M. Cutting, $2,000; Dr. Albert Shaw, $3,000; Everett Colby, $150; Douglas Robinson, $5,000; E. H. Hooker and Blanche Le Roy Hooker, $5,000. Roosevelt committee of the city of New York, $6,519.84.

Senator Clapp asked whether Mr. Hooker had any further information to give the committee.

"Yes. I know of one $70,000 contribution to Senator La Follette's campaign fund.

Who gave it?" asked Senator Clapp.

Mr. Crane Was Impartial.

Charles R. Crane. I also know that he gave the same amount to Governor Wilson's fund. "Mr. Crane told me," said the witness, "that he was making these contributions at the same time."

Mr. Hooker said Mr. Crane was a "very public spirited citizen and was helping both men because he believed they were progressives," said Mr. Hooker. He said he talked with Mr. Crane at the Chicago club in March or April."

"Tell us what he said," demanded Senator Pomerene.

"He said that he had already given $70,000 and was contributing $4,000 a week to keep the campaign going," replied the witness. He said it was very expenseive."

That concluded Mr. Hooker's examination and Mr. Tegethoff was recalled long enough to say he had no telegram in his possess, nor had he ever seen any in which President Roosevelt asked Mr. Harriman to look out for the selection of a good man for United States senator in California.

"Information came to me to that effect and that is the reason I asked," explained Senator Pomerene.

Flinn Takes the Stand.

Wm. Flinn, of Pittsburg, next took the stand.

"I think it can be stated with safety that 85 or 90 per cent of the money expended for Col. Roosevelt in Pennsylvania was contributed by myself," said the witness. He said he contributed in all to the primary campaign $102,384. He explained in detail its expenditure: $28,300 he said, was expended in Pittsburg. He declared the "Taft people had spent $95,000 in our county."

"I think the money was all spent legitimately," he added, "but it was wasteful."

Senator Clapp called Mr. Flinn's attention to Senator Penrose's charge in the senate Aug. 22, that Mr. Flinn had made a fortune out of municipal deals and had offered $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 to Senator Penrose and Israel W. Durham to secure the seat of former Senator Quay in 1905.

"What have you to say to that?" asked Chairman Clapp.

What He Said is Plenty.

"Well, sitting here under oath, I will say that if Senator Penrose made such statement as that, he lied," snapped Flinn.

"Neither did I authorize any other man to make such an offer for me."

Mr. Flinn said he had never talked to Senator Penrose or Mr. Durham about the senate. He declared he had brought a witness with him who had talked with Senator Penrose about the senatorial place.

"I also have a man here who signed my name to a telegram appealing to the Standard Oil company for assistance," said Mr. Flinn, referring to the telegrams which Senator Penrose had read in the senate last August.

"I did not authorize him to send the telegram. He had worked for the Standard Oil company and said he believed he could help me and I told him to go ahead in his own way; that I would be very glad of any help he could give me."

The man who signed the telegram, he said, was J. G. Splain. Mr. Flinn declared he had not received any telegram from John D. Archbold in response.

Standard Oil Figures.

"The Standard Oil company is very strong in our state," he added. "No senator has been elected from Pennsylvania in years in which the Standard Oil company was not potential.

"When I received specific information from Mr. Frick that they had settled on Mr. Knox I was through," said Flinn.

Senator Oliver said Mr. Flinn's statement did not include all his contributions for local officers and members of the legislature and the senator wanted to know the total.

"Does the committee want to know," demanded Flinn, after he and Senators Clapp and Oliver had argued for nearly half an hour, "how much money I spent for all political purposes this year?"

"That's just what we want to know," said Senator Clapp.

"All right, then," exclaimed the witness, slapping his knee. He climbed down from the witness chair and turning to his lawyer and associates who sat near by, he said: "Where are the papers?"

Jurors Seek to Evade Service.

"I want to find out if there is a lot of perjury here," said District Attorney Miller after counsel for the defense had objected to questions asked the talesmen. Several talesmen had said they were convinced the defendants were guilty and one admitted he wanted to get off jury service "pretty bad."

Judge Anderson here interposed, saying:

"I will not permit any qualified man to evade service. It is their duty to serve."

Clayton B. Hunt, Richmond, Ind., in reply to questions said: "Yes sir; to my mind those men stand guilty now."

When court adjourned until this afternoon it was announced by the defense that Senator Kern would take up the examination of talesmen. In the first two hours of the examination none had been accepted as jurors and neither side had used any peremptory challenges.

the attempt to make a speech. It was not the colonel's only adventure during his trip across North Carolina. Earlier in the day he was locked out of his car, thinly clad, and rode on the platform in the sharp air of early morning for twenty minutes before his plight was discovered. At Hickory, half a hundred students from Lenora college, gave the college cheer with "Wilson, Wilson" on the end.

"That's fine; cry to keep up the spirits of the side that ought to lose!" Col. Roosevelt shouted.

The cheering continued despite the protests of those who wished to hear the colonel. A man pushed his way into the midst of the students announcing: "I'm a Taft republican but I want a square deal for Roosevelt. You college boys have got to keep still."

The Colonel's Rebuke.

"Boys," Col. Roosevelt called out, "you are long on noise but you're just a little short on intelligence."

The students persisted in their cheering until Col. Roosevelt's champion seized the nearest one and attempted to force him out of the crowd. The students retaliated by aiming a blow at his face. Others joined in. Just then the train started and as Col. Roosevelt lost sight of the crowd the "Taft republican" and the students were still pummeling each other.

Col. Roosevelt reached Asheville at 5:50 o'clock this morning and his schedule called for his departure at 7:10. He did not know that at Asheville there was a change from central to eastern time and thinking he would be in Asheville for an hour and twenty minutes, remained in his state room. Outside there was a crowd which the colonel did not wish to disappoint.

Locked Out in the Cold.

He rose hastily, slipped on such garments as he could do in a few seconds, and went out to the platform in time to wave a goodbye to the crowd.

No one had seen the colonel's hasty exit, the rest of the party was asleep and the porter had been told that the colonel, too, was sleeping and no one should be admitted to the car. He locked the door as the train drew out. Col. Roosevelt rang the bell. The porter, mindful of his orders, let the bell ring and kept away from the door. Col. Roosevelt kept his finger on the bell for five minutes then gave it up.

At the next station, twenty minutes later, a trainman found him and went to his rescue.

Has Learned Another Tune.

Col. Roosevelt today entered North Carolina, the last state in which he is to speak on his present trans-continental tour, which has extended over more than 10,000 miles. Tonight the colonel will speak at Raleigh, then he will return to New York, reaching there tomorrow afternoon. On Thursday night he plans to leave for Washington, where he is scheduled to testify on Friday before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions. The colonel was hoarse today from his month's campaigning, but otherwise he said he was feeling "bully." He commented today that he has added another tune to the meager list of those he says he is able to recognize when he hears them. It is "Onward Christian Soldier," which he has heard at the progressive meetings everywhere on his present trip. Until recently he said the only tunes he recognized were "Star Spangled Banner" and "Garry Owen."

THE FIRST WORD—You can have anything that you want in this world if you want it bad enough.

My mail is full of letters from girls who want to be changed in the twinkling of an eye. Girls bewail the fact that they are fat, or they are lean, that they are tall or short, that they have bad complexions, ugly teeth, scanty hair, and other imperfections, and they want these blemishes made beauties right away.

The girl who is too fat has probably put on only ten pounds a year for the last three or four years, yet if one should tell her something that would only take off ten pounds within a year, do you suppose that she would practice the self-denial for that length of time to insure the not too rapid melting of her flesh? When people tell me that they do not eat anything and still remain fat, I know that they are not only deceiving me, but themselves.

They may not be eating such great quantities of food, but they are eating flesh-making foods—starches and sweets and fats.

If one who wishes to grow thin will walk five miles a day and eat no potatoes, white bread, pastries nor sweets, no rich gravies, and live mostly upon lean meats, fruits, and salads, cutting down one's meals to two a day, one can reduce one's flesh, but it is a long and laborious process and few women have the strength of mind to do it.

Actresses must practice this self-denial, as there is nothing so success-destroying to the actress as fat.

The girl with high protruding abdomen can remedy it by wearing the long corset and walking on the balls of her feet. If your abdomen is unpleasantly prominent, it is a sure sign that you are not walking properly. You are sinking back on your heels, making the soft walls of your abdomen carry your weight instead of your spinal column, which Nature intended it to do.

No matter how fleshy you are, you need not have a protruding abdomen if you walk correctly.

Then there is the girl who has pimples on her face. She probably has had them for months and even years, but she will declare that your remedies are of no use if within four weeks her face is not cleared up and her complexion perfect.

The girl who has acne or eczema must be very careful of her diet, omitting all fats, made dishes, pastries and foods that are highly seasoned. She must be scrupulously careful to bathe her entire body daily, using a brush and coarse towel to remove the impurities thrown off by the skin and keep all the pores open. Then, if she uses a healing ointment and antiseptic she will find in time that her face will become smooth, although she may never have the fine skin of the girl who has not allowed her face to become pimpled through neglect.

There is, however, another cause for pimpled face, and that is nervousness, and the girl who feels that her nerves are frazzled should take long walks in the open air, practice deep breathing exercises, and sleep ten hours a day.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—Don't get impatient. It takes as long to remedy beauty ills as it does to develop them.

Little Journeys Into Fashion Land.

"Who wears them?" one is tempted to ask of many fantastic objects. There are gowns and hats that are exhibited in the shops that could only be appreciated on the stage, with distance and limelight to lend their enchantment, or in a lunatic asylum where the standard of taste may include the grotesque and the highly colored.

In a milder degree this applies to many objects that are, one fancies, chiefly exploited as advertisements. Thus a famous fan shop specializes in fans that resemble heads of cats and pugs, and another prefers the staring own, but it is hard to find any one who has ever desired to carry a fan of the sort. Again, we have all seen the hat that looked like a pigeon pie or a pheasant on its nest, but the offender has usually been in the window, not upon our neighbor's head.

Birds and beasts of all sorts have, it is true, been for long accustomed to light upon our umbrellas, but at best this is only an occasional whim in which some of us have indulged, and it does not in the least account for the vast number of umbrella handles surmounted by animals which are seen in certain windows and are so numerous that one might imagine that the carrying of umbrellas so decorated was one of the most popular fashions.

Dogs, cats, parrots, owls and now hares and rabbits, and even donkeys, are among the animals favored, but after all only a small number of us choose to carry these grotesques for our sunshades or umbrellas. Silver tops which reveal purses, perfume or powder cases are also shown.

MONOTONOUS HATS.

Hats are monotonous at the moment—made of velours lined with a contrasting color and simply banded. The only possible alternative seems a piped strap at the base of its crown. The "pot" outline is to be seen with a double brim, and an example of this has a few black velvet folds loosely held in the front with a buckle formed of white osprey.

The soft velvet hat has its charms if novelty be not among them, and no inconsiderable art is required to achieve successfully the prevailing passion for strange color unions. The yellow feather is on the wing; the popularity of that trying tone is speeding it into the limbo of oblivion.

SCORCH STAINS.

Scorch stains can be removed if they are immediately rubbed with dry starch and then sponged off. Repeat the process until the stain disappears.

AT THE TEMPLE

The bill of entertainment at the Temple this week is one of clean and delightful entertainment from beginning to end. In fact there is not a dull moment, neither is one compelled to watch old stunts in order to see something new and different. For classy fun, dancing, music and variety of entertainment Temple patrons are sure to get their fill and they will likely feel like going twice. Although not placed as a headliner number the "quality act" of J. Warren Keane and Miss Grace White, pianist, is one likely to appeal to lovers of the refined as well as those who care most for a big laugh. Mr. Keane is decidedly clever, while the music by Miss White and the various little tricks of the act add to its novelty.

Walter C. Percival & Co., present a one act playlet that is strikingly unusual. An old theme is presented in new clothes and with the markedly good acting of Mr. Percival, which would serve to elevate even the commonplace, the act is thoroughly enjoyable.

Mason and Murray also have a laugh-maker that is remarkably good, though when they are finished it is difficult to remember just exactly what one had laughed about all the time. Miss Murray keeps up a running fire of small talk—just like a woman of course—all the time Mr. Mason is trying to spout a little poetry. It is really funny. Both entertainers sing well and the costuming of the number is an elegant feature.

Charles Gibbs presents musical imitations. He is exceedingly clever, not merely in his imitations and whistling, for his stunts have been equalled by others, but in his inimitable personality. At the matinee performance Mr. Gibbs had some unexpected assistance from the audience. It was this way. Mr. Gibbs has a one-word expression, "dead," which he uses frequently. Early in the act at the first performance someone in the audience unconsciously exclaimed the word before Mr. Gibbs got around to it. It merely went to show the power of the actor over his audience. Mr. Gibbs certainly had attention.

The Georgia Trio, Messrs. Aldert, Evans and Zell, do some lively things with their feet and give an extremely lively and interesting performance. They were very well received at both matinee and evening. Gormley and Caffery are high class comedy acrobats. They present their act in a pretty setting and both comedy and acrobatic work give pleasure. The younger man does some difficult things that brings spontaneous applause and Mr. Gormley's fun is well mixed up with his well known skill in tumbling.

The Gaumont weekly budget of current events presents much variety and interest.

AMERICA'S PRETTIEST WORKING GIRLS.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Any of our readers, walking the streets in the morning or noon or evening hours, need not be informed that Fort Wayne has more pretty working women and working girls than any city in the land. However there are plenty of them in every city and for the sake of comparison not to say contrast, The Sentinel has collected the photographs of many of the PRETTIEST WORKING WOMEN IN AMERICA. We have secured the pictures from responsible and discriminating editors in a large number of cities—one young lady pre-eminently beautiful in each city—and we ask our readers to judge as to the comparative prettiness of these splendid examples of typical American womanhood.)

NO.1.

MISS MAYBELLE HOLLIDAY, COLUMBUS, O.

Miss Maybelle Holliday is a glove clerk in a Columbus, (O.) department store. She was voted the prettiest girl in the capital city when she was selected queen for the great centennial celebration. She presided majestically as queen during the centennial, but now has returned to the glove counter.

THE GRAPE "CURE-ALL."

THE grape is the "patent medicine" of the fruit tribe. It is a natural cure-all for the human being whose digestive organs need repairing.

It is recognized by the medical profession and its health-giving qualities have been known for ages. The old Greeks and Persians valued it and preserved the fresh fruit as far out of season as possible, making also a sirup which contained its fresh flavor and aroma.

The grape-cure, under the direction of a physician is no more unusual than the taking of mineral waters at resorts established in the vicinity of medicinal springs.

Some grapes contain as high as 30 per cent of sugar or as low as 10 per cent. This element is one of the most important in the fruit.

There are also in it albuminous matter, gum, dextrine, tartrates of soda, potash, phosphoric acid, lime, magnesia, iron and a large per cent of water. Grapes contain more potash salts than almost any other fruit.

HEIGHT OF TABLE IS IMPORTANT.

(By a Physician.)

The table, in the sewing room, in the kitchen, in the dressing room, in the dining room, should be the right height if a woman is to do her work easily and well.

Few realize the importance of this small matter in the day's round of household duties.

Too high a table causes a constant strain upon the arms and shoulders. Too low a table causes stooping and an aching back.

For a medium tall person, a very good height of table is 32½ inches. Upon this pastry may be rolled and similar work done without stooping. In consequence the woman who must do this as a part of her daily round is much less tired than if she had used a table which was just a little too far for her to reach without stooping. About an inch lower, or 31½ inches, is a good height for the ironing table in the kitchen in which a woman of medium height works.

A low stove is wearing if it must be used much every day. And a washing can be done much easier if a higher bench than common is used for the rubbing tub.

The easiest way to discover the height best suited to yourself is to place blocks of wood on your ordinary table, to support a board, until you have found at what exact number of inches from the floor you can work with the greatest ease.

A woman who has realized this little scheme of saving fatigue, and does not profit by it, is extremely foolish if she values her own health. It is no uncommon thing for a woman to be worn out and unhappy after a day in her kitchen. Too frequently the causes are the table, the ironin-stand, the sewing board and the cook stove.

LITTLE FASHIONS.

The new machine-pleated skirts must have their place in the new wardrobe. Some of these are the simple straight-pleated style, while others are made with panels front and back, or with a couple of wide flounces set on a deep yoke.

Plain tailored skirts with a slight tendency to be fuller are undoubtedly the best purchase for the everyday woman to make for early fall wear.

Drapery, which tapers to a point, touching the skirt at about half way between the hem and waistband of skirt is a new mode of trimming dresses.

Send your walking and dress skirts to us to have them dry cleaned and pressed—and made suitable for wear this fall—at a fraction of the cost of new garments. Troy Dry Cleaning Co. Phone 555.—Adv.

SAYS ROOSEVELT HELPED.

Enabled Mr. Morgan to Make Millions, Declares Gov. Marshall.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 1.—"Roosevelt enabled Morgan to make $60,000,000," said Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, democratic nominee for vice president, in the course of an address here last night. "I work as hard as Morgan, but I haven't made that amount. I haven't had a friend in the white house. But I will after next March."

Governor Marshall spoke before a large audience in Associate hall. He said further:

"While we are all born with equal rights, God did not make us all alike. Opportunity is open to all and it is for us to take advantage of our opportunities. Get on honestly. Make all the money you can, but make it so honestly that you can let your infant bite on it without fear of germs. Love the dollar. Love it, but don't squeeze it so hard that you will be prosecuted for taking liberties with the person of the Goddess of Liberty."

RAINY DAY FUN FOR CHILDREN.

It is always advisable to provide some easy employment for the wet days which may descend on a houseful of children on holiday. Even apart from the wet days, there is always the period before the bedtime of the bigger boys and girls when the delights of the day must be relinquished for something more conducive to rest.

If the holiday is in the country excellent playthings are provided in the horsechestnuts. Any normal boy or girl will invent a number of games in which they may be used, and the most fascinating sets of dolls' furniture may be made from them by the help of match stems for legs and arms. It must be remembered, however, that the juice which children get on their clothes through cutting up the chestnuts leaves a brown stain which is almost impossible to remove.

Melon seeds are always greatly in request once their fascination becomes known. They should be washed and spread in the sun to dry, after which they may be threaded into delightful chains and bracelets. A more elaborate scheme is to use the seeds in embroidery (after the fashion of sequins). Besides the grotesque designs which will suggest themselves to the boys and girls, flower patterns may be carried out, the seeds serving as flower petals, or, better still, as the ears of oats or wheat.

SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS OR DYSPEPSIA—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

This delightful stomach regulator brings relief in five minutes—Puts an end to Stomach trouble forever.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.—Adv.

JAIL TERM FOR BRUTAL ASSAULT

WIFE PLEADS FOR HIM

John Sadnau, a Hungarian, was fined $10 and costs and given sixty days in jail in the city court this morning for brutally beating his little daughter, three years old. His wife, who also suffered from her husband's brutality, had forgiven him and in court today pleaded that he escape punishment. Sadnau has been living at 1920 Thomas street.

The sentence is equivalent to eighty days in jail, for the man cannot pay the fine. He has been working in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop and has $50 in wages coming from the company. An order for the cash will be prepared and turned over to the wife.

A week ago, the evidence showed, Sadnau went to a wedding and got drunk. Wednesday morning, when he came home he became irritated at his child and brutally whipped the little one, so that the child's body was covered with black and blue marks and one ear was almost severed from the head. Attention was called to the case by neighbors and Sadnau will face a charge of wife-beating when he completes his jail term.

Other Cases on Docket.

Rolland Ansbach was fined $5 and costs by Judge Mungovan for exceeding the speed limit. It was charged that Ansbach drove an automobile at a rate of fourteen miles an hour past Wayne street, on Calhoun, last Sunday.

Bert Hoffman, Frank Gordon, of Montpelier, Ohio; Charles Henning, Martin Durbin were all let go on promises to be good. They were charged with public intoxication.

Ernest Porter, colored, of Oklahoma, charged with loitering, was given a chance to get back to his home. Henry Cole, another colored chap, charged with drunkenness, was also let go on his promise to drink only one glass of whisky as an "eye-opener" in the mornings.

The case against Karl Kinsey, charged with wife desertion, was continued until Friday morning. John Joho's case for assault and battery will come up on next Monday. He was let go on his own recognizance.

RUGH JOKES IN GARY HOSPITAL

Cripple Sends Greetings Across Hall to Girl He Saved.

BOTH ARE IMPROVING

Gary, Ind., Oct. 1.—With a nurse as the medium, William Rugh and Miss Ethel Smith exchanged "Good mornings" and "How are you today" with each other yesterday across the hall of the Gary hospital. Rugh said at night he was feeling fine and was in little pain. He wouldn't talk much, for he was too busy eating dinner—a feast he had been planning since he came out of the ether on Sunday afternoon, when the skin from his crippled leg was grafted to the body of Miss Smith.

She was much better at night and was able to turn over—which she has not been able to do for five weeks since she was burned while riding on the motorcycle with "Bae" Roberts, her fiance. She was attended by her parents all night on Sunday after the operation, but she seemed so much improved early in the morning that the two watchers were persuaded to leave her side and get some sleep.

Many Interested in Case.

Office attaches of the hospital were kept busy all day answering telephone and personal calls from people inquiring into the condition of the two convalescents. All those asking about Miss Smith were personal acquaintances made at social functions in recent years.

The many asking about Rugh were composed of men, women and children—from the chief of police of Gary to the smallest boy who has helped him sell his papers on his old corner. Trade boomed in the news business with old "pal" Jim, a blind helpmate of Rugh's. People went out of their way to give the pennies for papers that they knew would make the dollars for Rugh's future welfare.

Rugh Keeps All in Good Spirits.

Nurses at the hospital said the patients were in unusual good spirits because of the laughing remarks of Rugh. He is in a ward with an aged man just recovering from a serious illness. Both sat propped up in bed. The aged convalescent was wondering how any one who just has finished having a leg taken off, four inches below the hip could laugh and pat the doctor on the back until he said "ouch."

The happy noise in the room brightened up the girl's room also, for whenever Rugh let loose some joke she would open her eyes and smile—she was too weak to talk much. Roberts, her fiance, frequently came in to see her.

MOCK LYNCHING AS THIRD DECREE

Used by Kenosha Sheriff to Get Confession from Negro.

ALL THRILLS IN IT

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 1.—All the mental anguish of a man being led to the scaffold to pay the penalty for a hideous crime was suffered yesterday by Wiley Davie, a negro suspected of theft.

Sheriff "Andy" Stahl, of Kenosha, organized a "mob" and pretended that the negro was about to be lynched in order to obtain a confession from him.

The ruse was successful from Stahl's point of view, but the nervous agony Davie suffered while being dragged to a nearby swamp with a halter around his neck has left him in a critical condition.

He was told that he would be hanged and every detail of a lynching was carried out until a convenient tree was reached. Then the negro's nerve gave way and he admitted his crime.

Mock Mob Gets Rope.

Davie was charged with stealing a shotgun. When captured by the sheriff he denied his guilt. Stahl had trailed him for thirty miles over half the county and felt that he had the right man.

"Oh, well," said Stahl, "we don't like negroes in Kenosha county, anyway." Then to the crowd, "Boys, get a rope."

In a minute the cry was taken up and Davie was dragged from the sheriff's automobile. A boy came running from a barn with a halter. It was thrown about Davie's neck and with a yell the crowd, thirsty for blood, as Davie imagined, started for a woody swamp a few hundred yards distant.

They had dragged the negro but a little way when, livid with fear, he screamed, "Wait. I'll get the gun. Don't hang me."

The halter was removed from his neck and he sank to the ground unable to walk. It was nearly an hour before he was able to show where the gun had been concealed beneath the leaves in a grove.

"I'd rather be a live negro in the 'pen' than a lynched one in the graveyard," said Davie after he had been lodged in jail.

REPORT SHOWS SAVING.

Trustees of Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home Practice Economy.

Indianapolis, Oct. 1.—In a statement of expenses of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home, at Knightstown, filed with Governor Marshall by the board of trustees, it is shown that the institution was operated at a saving of $2,038.09 for the year 1911-12, as compared with the former year, despite a heavy increase in population and an advance in cost of supplies.

This year the institution turned back into the state treasury $8,245.79, while in the previous year the amount turned back was $6,207.70. The per capita cost of maintenance this year was $218.50. Last year it was $284.20, a difference of $65.70.

The total number of children in the institution this year was 421 and last year it was 331, an increase of ninety. The saving was made, the report showed, despite the fact that more than $3,000 was spent this year for unusual equipment, which was paid from the maintenance fund. The number of employes of the institution averages the same for the two years. The appropriations were the same for both years.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

MANAGER AFRAID TO TAKE CHANCE

Pair of Good Players Lost to Fort Wayne and Both Made Majors.

OWNERS ARE TO BLAME

Ed. Onslow is playing first base right along for the Detroit club and is in all probability showing enough promise to indicate his ability to fill Del Gainer's shoes in event the latter does not recover from the effects of an injury to his right wrist sustained several years ago.

Hugh Jennings would not carry Onslow and try to develop him unless he had shown ability that would justify such an expensive undertaking as the Tiger leader upon decides upon the merits of his recruits and is quick either to place them for future use, retain them for regular berths on his own club cast them aside.

Ed Nagelsen is working pretty regularly behind the bat for Cleveland, and will probably be second catcher next season for the Naps as this season of the year, when the clubs are set in the race, is generally devoted to teaching the youngsters all the things they don't learn in the minors.

If Dr. James Casey had had a little more courage both of these men would have been on the Fort Wayne roster last season and the season before. Ed Onslow drifted into Fort Wayne in the spring of 1911 after he had been south for a trial. He dressed and worked out here with the club, and showed marked ability and at that time Casey was practically without a man for first as Gainer was gone and Clancy had not signed.

Instead of taking a chance on a promising youngster he beat the bushes for an old head and let Onslow go to Lansing, Mich., where his work was good enough to attract the attention of the Cardinal scouts and he was picked up. There was no chance for him at St. Louis with Ed Konetchy working in form, and he was turned back last spring to Lansing and purchased later by Detroit. He played a good game on the bag and hit better than .300.

He is a brother to Jack Onslow, one of the cleverest catchers the Fort Wayne club ever had, and had never played independent ball or any other kind until he started out for a try at the game. Jack was asked if his brother had ever had any experience, and answered: "Not a bit. Why, he didn't even know how to get inside a ball park."

Nagelsen was bought from the Wabash club for $200, and showed great promise in the spring. In spite of the fact that Dr. Casey had a great catcher in Onslow, a man he had himself insisted on having Detroit, he wouldn't take a chance and instead of holding the youngster he kept Bill Bulley and Nagelsen went to Kalamazoo and was picked up by Cleveland and sent to Toledo, and from there to help out New Orleans.

If Ed Onslow had been signed he would probably have played a good game at first and might have gone up last season. Nagelsen as second catcher would probably not have attracted as much attention and would have been left here for first string man and would have saved the $700 paid for Harry Martin.

"These things simply indicate that the system in the Central league of fifths clubs from the major leagues castoffs needs a little attention. In the first place the older players gear style and there is not that gratifying improvement in their work that is shown by the young players. They are as far advanced in the game as they will ever be, and are naturally without the ambition that assures the players who are on their way up, and never play the same ball that the recruits put on exhibition. The disastrous season of 1912 will probably point more strongly to the fact that the base of the league lies in the discovery and development of new talent and that everything else must not give way to the desire to win a pennant.

CLUB BLOWS UP.

Trenton Ball Team Hits the Wall With Large Liabilities and Scant Assets.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 1.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States court here by the Trenton Athletic club owner of the Trenton team of the Tri-State league. The liabilities are scheduled at $18,742.95, while the assets are $566. The Consolidated Sporting Goods company, of Philadelphia, is among the creditors, with a claim of $134.

BLACK SKIN HAS STOPPED WONDER

Rube Foster One of the Marvels of Game But Color Hurt Him.

AGE IS DOWNING HIM

The "Black Mathewson" just about hits the nail head. Not that "Big Six" and "Rube" are constructed on the same physical lines; far from it. "Matty" is an athlete, while Foster bears a resemblance to a barrel. He is the heaviest human that ever played ball for money, with the possible exception of Capt. Anson—and Anse had considerable longitude on Foster.

At one time Foster "had everything," in speed and curves, but Father Time has robbed him of some of this "stuff," leaving him with the finest assortment of baseball tricks in the game.

"Rube" and his team, the American Giants, have cleaned up about everything in the amateur and semi-pro line, and but for their complexion would continue the process among the big fellows.

Foster's age is a conjecture. He admits he is 35, but there is a suspicion that when Messrs. Mack and Dixon drew their famous line, our little 267 pound cinder was thereabouts, playing ball. When pressed he will admit being awakened by Paul Revere on the occasion of that equestrian's momentous cross-country ride.

Two or three seasons back one of "Rube's" legs was fractured, while volplaning into the plate, but as soon as possible he was hobbling about on crutches, supplying a "little gingah to de boys." In the excitement of a close play he forgot his cracked stilt and was carried to the bench by a half dozen of his Giants.

"Rube" hails from Texas, and spent his youth picking boll weevils off cotton. About the time the American league was born he meandered into Hot Springs, Ark., where Connie Mack was putting his future world's champions through the vapor and mineral water treatment. Foster found employment in a restaurant and spent his spare time warming up young Athletic pitchers and pitching to Mack's backstops.

When the team left the valley, Mack sent "Rube" to the Philadelphia Royal Giants, a fast colored team, and when at home he often left his own ball park to watch "Rube" pitch.

Foster winters in Cuba, where he is popular. For craftiness he has no ball-playing equal, although figures prove that the Cuban Mendez is a better hurler. Still, every time they meet, "Rube" downs the Island star.

If some Westinghouse Edison-Macaroni would "shake a lath" and invent something to change the complexion of Mistah Foster, he would be in the majors. He is a great gambler, and next to baseball poker is his favorite fruit.

RED SOX PITCHERS ELIGIBLE TO PITCH IN WORLD'S SERIES AND WHO ARE DEPENDED UPON TO WIN.

PROVE IT, SAYS JOHN J. M'GRAW

If Fogel and Murphy Have No Evidence They Ought to Quit Game.

LYNCH IS VERY SORE

New York, Sept. 1.—Manager McGraw, of the Giants, is angry over the charges of Fogel, of Philadelphia, and Murphy, of Chicago, that the Giants won the pennant through favoritism shown by umpires.

"Murphy and Fogel ought to be made to prove their wild assertions about the umpires, and failing to do so they should be driven out of organized baseball," he said. "It is strange that they are the only club owners who have cast reflection on the honesty of baseball. If there was anything wrong why wouldn't some other club owner make a kick, too?"

President Ebbetts, of Brooklyn, sided with McGraw, saying that while there doubtless has been incompetency among the umpires, Fogel's statement is not correct. He thought the Philadelphia owner rather wild in stating that the Giants won twenty-one games through umpires.

BRENNAN ENTERS PROTEST.

Sore on Account of Charges Made by President Fogel.

Cincinnati, Oct. 1.—A protest of the statements of President Horace Fogel, of the Philadelphia National league club, that the umpires in that league favored the New York team on its home grounds was made in a letter to the national baseball commission from Umpire Brennan, of the National league. Brennan in his letter says that the impartiality of National league umpires has been impugned and he demands an apology from President Fogel.

The matter is outside the jurisdiction of the national baseball commission, but it will probably be referred to the National league directors.

LYNCH WILL BARE MATTER.

Says He Will Take Fogel Before Directors of National League.

New York, Oct. 1.—President Thomas J. Lynch, of the National league, purposes to have the board of directors of the league investigate the charges of Horace S. Fogel, president of the Philadelphia club, that favorable decisions by certain umpires were responsible for the New York club winning the pennant this year. Mr. Lynch says he cares nothing for Mr. Fogel's personal attack upon him, but that the imputation of dishonesty on the part of the umpires cannot be overlooked.

In a statement issued last night Mr. Lynch says:

"As far as President Fogel's attack on the president of the National league is concerned, I care nothing. My twenty-five years' record in baseball speaks for itself. The cowardly attack on the honesty of the umpires and the game itself is a different matter, however, and cannot be overlooked. I shall take these charges of President Fogel before the board of directors of the National league, which has sole jurisdiction. Regardless of whether Mr. Fogel has financial interest in the Philadelphia club or not, he is the president of that organization and the charges he makes can only be handled by the league itself."

ST. PATRICK BOWLERS' LINE-UP.

Six Clubs Will Be Formed and a Schedule Started Oct. 15.

Bowlers of St. Patrick's lyceum are ready for another season on the alleys, and a six-club league will be maintained this season with a schedule opening on Oct. 15. This organization is making a good showing in the local sporting world and some bowlers of real class were developed last season.

J. J. Werstein is president and A. L. Beurst secretary and treasurer for the season, and the president will be captain of one of the teams. The other captains are Ray Doyle, Frank Mills, J. Tremple, E. Litot and R. Tegtmeyer. Bowlers who want places on the teams are requested to apply to the captains.

JOE WOOD TO BE MARRIED.

Kansas City Girl Will Become His Bride After Series.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 1.—When Joe Wood, star pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, was winning games for the Kansas City Blues five years ago and later continuing his success on the mound in the American league, he also was winning a game far better than the Washington-Boston baseball struggle in which he beat out Walter Johnson—and this great game was love.

The prize Joe Wood won in the great game is Miss Laura O'Shea, daughter of S. F. O'Shea, of 2841 Forest avenue. Wood and Miss O'Shea will be married "some time after the world's series," according to the bride-to-be.

ZABEL LOOKED GOOD.

After Zabel was recalled from Youngstown by Kansas City he pitched four games and won three of them.

WAGNER NOT ALWAYS STAR.

Only Year Ago Red Sox Asked Waivers on Captain.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1.—Charley Wagner, captain and shortstop of the Bostons now—but a year ago John J. Taylor was asking waivers on him. Garry Herrmann hearing this, made a good offer for him but couldn't get him. So many American league teams wanted Wagner that Taylor decided to retain him—and this year he has been a great factor in Stahl's victorious machine.

HARD TO PERSUADE GARLAND STAHL TO RETURN TO GAME.

The hardest part of Jim McAleer's work as president of the Boston Red Sox came before he had really acquired an interest in the club. That task was to prevail upon Garland Stahl to return to baseball. McAleer made a dozen trips to Chicago to confer with Stahl before Jake finally consented to give up the banking business for the diamond.

McAleer met with absolutely no encouragement from anyone and especially Stahl. Jake insisted that he was through with baseball for all time. Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, informed McAleer several time that he would have his labor for his pains as Stahl would never play ball again.

Finally Jim went to Stahl and showed him wherein the Red Sox had a chance to run one, two three in the pennant race, and explained to him that with a new plant at Boston there would be more money in it for him than by continuing at banking.

McAleer also explained to Jake that he was the "missing link" and that every player on the team wanted him to return. Jim had felt out the players during the 1911 campaign, and he says that in all his experience he never found a player so universally popular with his teammates as Stahl. The Red Sox players admire Jake as much for his excellent qualities as a man as for his ability as a player.

When McAleer forced home upon Stahl that the chain would be complete with Jake as manager and first baseman and showed him the added inducement of increased finances, Jake fell for his line of talk and agreed to return to Boston as playing manager. Now, well now, Jake thinks it was the wisest move he ever made. If there is one happier over the outcome of the American league pennant fight than Jim McAleer that man is Jake Stahl.

FRED CLARKE TO MANAGE PIRATES

Will Not Retire to Kansas Farm in 1913 and Has Had No Trouble.

TO BUILD UP TEAM

Pittsburgh, Oct. 1.—Any doubt that may have existed regarding Fred Clarke's intentions for next year were dispelled when the doughty Pirate leader affixed his signature to a document assuring his services as manager to the Pittsburgh club for the 1913 season. Immediately after this ceremony had been dispensed with, Clarke gave out the following statement:

"I am glad to state that I have again signed as manager of the Pittsburgh club. The people of Pittsburgh have been especially considerate this season and have given us all the encouragement we could desire. I believe the players have shown their appreciation of this treatment by doing their level best all the time. Only one team can win a pennant, but all should strive for the prize. We will try again next year and will hope for better results.

"The only thing we can complain of as regards the 1912 season has been the weather. We have absolutely no criticism of the umpiring to offer. On the whole it has been better this year than for many seasons.

"I will be glad to return to Pittsburgh next spring and hope to meet all my old friends when I come. We are going ahead building up a good team for 1913 and will do the best we can."

Clarke's action, while not altogether unexpected, caused some surprise. Usually the Kansan delayed effecting connections until late in the winter, most of the time meeting President Dreyfuss at the annual league meeting, in New York and arranging terms, etc., there.

However, there has been so much talk recently of Fred's intention to quit the game that President Dreyfuss suggested a day or two since that it would be a good idea to have the rumor mongers squelched once and for all, and in this plan Clarke readily acquiesced. Hence he dropped into headquarters and made good.

The news that a contract would be tendered Clarke was made known some weeks ago. President Dreyfuss at that time announced that there had never been any difficulty between him and Clarke and that the subject of Fred's retirement had never been broached, let alone considered.

"I have the most implicit faith in Clarke's ability as a manager and as long as he wants to remain at the head of the Pittsburgh club he can," is the manner in which the club owner expressed himself.

When, recently the story that Dreyfuss and Clarke were at loggerheads was faked, the president at once entered a denial. Clarke, too, came forth with the statement that Dreyfuss had not attempted to "butt in" on the management of the club; but still out-of-town papers insisted on printing stories that there was trouble. After Clarke had signed his contract yesterday he smiled and said:

"I guess that proves there has been no trouble in the Pittsburgh club."

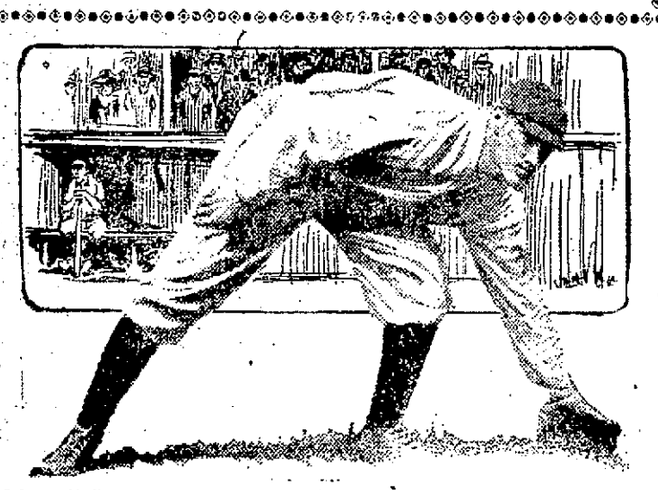
ARTHUR FLETCHER MAY STAR IN THE WORLD'S SERIES GAMES.



Johnny McGraw once went upon record to the effect that Arthur Fletcher was one of the greatest ball players in the business. Whether he has reversed this decision only the leader of the Giants knows. And he isn't saying.

Fletcher joined the Giants in 1909 after a great year with Dallas. He went to short when Bridwell slowed up. He did wonderful work in the Giant-Highlander series, but didn't cut much figure last year against the Athletics. He has what ball players call "wonderful hands," and is a pretty fielder, but his position in the batting order, down at the bottom, speaks eloquently of his lack of hitting ability.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All you need is a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine"—Hair gets lustrous, fluffy and abundant at once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it; surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it. —Adv.

Public Owned Street Car System Paying Venture from Beginning.

HOW IT IS OPERATED

Kansas City, Oct. 1.—An equipment of fifty-four modern cars, a system covering fifty-nine miles of track, a profit that will reach $100,000 in 1912, is the record of the municipal street railway system of Calgary, a city of 60,000 inhabitants in the southern part of Alberta, Canada, as shown by a report to Charles H. Talbot, municipal reference librarian. Calgary has commission form of government.

But the surprising part aside from the size of the city is the fact that the street railway system was not established until July 5, 1909. It was only expected to pay operating expenses for the first two years, at least, but it immediately placed itself upon a paying basis by returning a profit of $10,000 besides interest charges in the first six months.

Paid From the Beginning.

For several years capitalists endeavored to obtain the franchise, insisting that it could not be operated by the city at a profit. Calgary voted $476,000 to build and operate the streets railway as a public utility, and it was a success from the start. The system opened officially the morning of July 5, with two cars, operating from the center of the city to the fair grounds, a distance of about a half mile. Thirty-five thousand, four hundred and sixty passengers were carried in the first week. By September, twelve cars were running over sixteen and a half miles of track, four miles of which were paved. And all of the materials, equipment, etc., in the system are of a high grade.

After a completion of this work a surplus was saved sufficient to purchase six additional cars, which gave an equipment of eighteen modern pay-as-you-enter cars. In September, 1910, it was voted to extend the line twenty-four miles and purchase twelve adidtional cars and equipment at a cost of $484,000. The extension was constructed in 1911, giving a total mileage of forty and a half miles and thirty cars.

But still Calgary was not satisfied. Enthused with the success of municipal ownership as applied to a street railway system, $375,000 was voted to construct twelve additional miles of track, purchase eighteen passenger cars, including a scenic and a sprinkler car.

The Rates of Fares Charged.

Then with the decision of the Canadian Pacific railway to erect its western shops in Calgary, it was voted to construct three miles of line to these shops, and purchase six cars at a cost of $82,000.

There are five classes of tickets used in Calgary—school, good to and from school for adults and any time for children, ten for twenty-five cents; work, good morning and evening, eight for twenty-five cents; ordinary, good any time, six for twenty-five cents, in book form, twenty-five for $1; pads for civic employes, thirty for $1. The latter are charged to the department in which they are used.

No passes are issued, but there is a universal transfer system, and a labor fare between 12 and 2 o'clock is being considered.

And Calgary has grown in three years from a city of 35,000 to 60,000.

Vouched for by Levengood and Strickler; druggists of Latrobe, P

"Here is one of the greatest testimonials I have ever heard.

"George Umoltis, from Atlantic No. 2, a coal plant near here, bought two packages of EZO, and in about three or four weeks he came in and told me that he wanted to have it advertised, and said I am willing to pay all charges, because I want the people to know how good it is. He told me that for 7 years he hadn't stood on his feet, he spent $700.00 for doctor bills, and he only used one package of EZO, and can run and jump like a boy. He was all smiles about EZO."

THREE NEW MACHINISTS

L. L. Cullen, J. Schallenberger and O. Opatz Complete Apprenticeship.

OFFICIALS GATHTRING FOR TRIP OVER LINE

Men High in Rank Will Inspect Pennsylvania Lines This Week.

Three men completed an apprenticeship in the mechanical department of the Pennsylvania last night and immediately took up the work of journeymen machinists, working in the night gang. They are O. Opatz, L. L. Cullen and J. Schallenberger. The promotion of these three men opened the way for three other apprentices, or "helpers under instructions," as they are called, in the Pennsylvania shops. The new men are R. Ryan, transferred from the east car shop to the erecting shop; J. Rodemund, from helper in the boiler shop to the erecting shop and H. Schrimp, a new employe, assigned to the machine shop apprenticeship. The following changes in the assignment of apprentices also took place this morning: C. J. Lepper from the erecting shop to the round house; H. Bente, from the round house to the machine shop and C. Mennewisch, from the erecting shop to the machine shop.

Thursday night the party will be the guests of the Pennsylvania company at a dinner at the LaSelle hotel in Chicago and at its close, those who reside in points east of and including Fort Wayne will leave on a special train for their respective home cities. There will be three inspection trains. Trainmaster J. F. Patterson, Assistant Trainmaster C. L. Patterson, Road Foreman of Engines C. L. Colmey, Assistant Road Foreman Robert J. Lyons and Assistant Road Foreman O. E. Maxwell will accompany the inspection party of the Western division. The siding at Lafayette on which the inspection trains will be parked for the night will be lighted by electricity and a force of linemen and electricians, including W. H. Hosterman, B. Danahy, Gerald Traxler and Guy VanBuskirk, are now putting up the wires and lamps for that purpose. SAYS RELIEF IS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Committeeman John Hebert Returns From Trip Over Lines.

"The Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association is in a most gratifying condition," said John E. Hebert, the member of the advisory board representing the Western division. "I have just completed a trip over my territory," said Mr. Hebert, "and I am pleased with the condition of the membership as a whole." Continuing Mr. Hebert said: "The membership of the association at present is about 85 per cent. of the men employed by the company. This percentage will increase as soon as the great number of new employes have time to join the association."

DISPATCHERS' TELEPHONE.

Nickel Plate Will Soon Have System in Service.

Eight Western Union linemen and instrument installers, piloted by Conductor Charles Goodyear, are engaged at present in installing a telephone system for use by the train dispatchers on the Third district of the Nickel Plate, Fort Wayne to Bellevue. The Sentinel mentioned some time ago that this change was to be made, but it was supposed that work in that direction would not be taken up until next year.

RETIRES BECAUSE OF SICKNESS.

Supt. S. T. Blizzard Quits the Big Four.

This morning S. T. Blizzard retired from the superintendency of the Michigan division of the Big Four, with headquarters at Wabash. He has been succeeded by C. S. Miller, formerly engineer of track and roadway, or as called on the lines in these parts "division engineer." He was formerly located in Cincinnati. Supt. Blizzard was compelled to retire on account of ailing health. He held the office since 1893.

These balls are among the most popular of the events of their kind given in the city and the coming ball will be even better than those that preceded it.

CHARLES BLODGETT DEAD.

Conductor Charles Blodgett, of Findlay, Ohio, who had a run in and out of Fort Wayne over the C. H. & D. ever since the line was built, is dead and the remains passed through the city yesterday en route to Austin, Mich., where they were interred today. Conductor Blodgett was well known to Fort Wayne railway men, and particularly to the Wabash employes.

GEORGE LAYHER PROMOTED.

George R. Layher, superintendent of weighing and handling of freight on the Wabash, was in the city in his official capacity several hours this morning and took advantage of the opportunity to meet some of his old friends. The office now occupied by Mr. Layher was recently created but he has been with the company upwards of six years, formerly in the capacity of traveling freight agent. He is quite well known here.

HAD EYE BADLY BURNED.

A Macedonian recently employed at the Bass foundry, whose name could not be learned, sustained painful burns to his face yesterday, when he threw a ladle into some molten metal, causing the redhot iron to splash into his face. One portion struck the corner of the eye and burned the lid badly, but it is believed the sight will be saved.

TOURISTS' RATES ABOLISHED.

All summer tourists' rates on the railroads in this territory went out of existence yesterday and the traveler to the lakes or mountains must hereafter pay the regular fare. The past year has been an exceptionally good one notwithstanding the fact that rates were somewhat higher than during former seasons.

A. N. Schelle, who was married a week ago, resumed work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Louis Neimeyer, molder at the Bass works, reported for duty this morning. He had been on a wedding trip for two weeks.

Amos Damos, Gus Torelos and Peter Commes, Greeks, took employment in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

J. Deck is absent from his duties in the Pennsylvania on account of a piece of lumber falling upon his hand and crushing one of the digits.

A flying piece of steel inflicted a wound in the face of A. J. Hirschfelder yesterday which has put him on the off duty list for a few days.

Wm. M. Mason, a Pennsylvania machinist, sprained his right ankle when he stepped upon a piece of iron, which was lying upon the floor.

John Hurst, general accountant of the Pennsylvania company, is in the city today on business with the motive power office. He resides in Pittsburg.

W. V. Sweet, assistant purchasing agent of the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company, has resigned to accept a position with the Fort Wayne Electric works.

Mrs. Amos Swartz, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is visiting her son, Foreman George Swartz, of the air brake department of the Wabash shops, who resides at 909 Phillips street. Mrs. Swartz once resided here and is well known.

Mrs. Kickley, wife of Electrician C. N. Kickley, of the Pennsylvania power plant, who went to Richmond some days ago to receive treatment from a specialist, is improving and will soon come home.

The Bowser Oil Tank company has placed a contract with the Home Telephone company for a new and larger switchboard in the offices on Thomas street. The increasing business is the necessity for the improvement.

In August the relief fund of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg paid out a total of $67,752.50, of which $25,750 was for the families of members who died, and $42,002.50 for members unable to work.

J. F. Erwin, a clerk in the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania, has returned to that duty, after a trip to New York in search of laborers for the company. He secured and brought here forty-two laborers.

Boilermaker Frank Hauser, of the Wabash, sustained injuries about the neck and shoulders when a plug flew out of a boiler and allowed a stream of hot water to pour upon him yesterday. He will be off duty a few days.

Mrs. Newingham and the Misses Gertrude and Gladys Newingham, wife and daughters respectively of W. J. Newingham, a foreman at the Pennsylvania shops, arrived home yesterday. For two months they had been visiting in Seattle and other western cities.

Mrs. L. Neimeyer, wife of the molder at the Bass foundry, was called to Bremen, Ind., yesterday on account of the illness of her father, William Heinke, a retired farmer. Mr. Heinke submitted to a surgical operation for an affection of the stomach today.

Passenger Conductor C. W. Zeigler resumed charge of his run—trains 1 and 4—on the Nickel Plate today. He had been taking a ten days' vacation, a portion of which was spent with relatives in Fort Wayne and at Grand Rapids, Mich. Mrs. Zeigler was with her husband.

W. F. Baker, Oklahoma City, Okla., believes he has perfected the continuous, boltless, nutless railway joint for which there is a standing offer of $1,000,000. The invention has been examined by B. S. Newell, purchasing agent for the Pennsylvania, by the United States steel corporation's purchasing agent and high railroad officials. All are said to have made offers to install the joint on their systems, but the offers have been declined for the present.

An automatic device has been invented for the purpose of keeping a check on locomotive engineers who disregard signals. It consists of an electrical connection with the rails at semaphore points so arranged that if an engineer does not stop when the signal is set against him, a bell begins ringing at the next station and a record is automatically made upon a sealed register. As soon as the engineer reaches the station he is called upon to make a written explanation as to why he disregarded the signal.

THE MAN ON THE BENCH IN BIGGEST LABOR TRIAL IN HISTORY.

"JUDGE ANDERSON WEARS A PAINED AND WORRIED LOOK."

Indianapolis, Oct. 1.—Judge Albert Barnes Anderson, who is trying the alleged dynamiters in the big structural ironworkers' "conspiracy" case, is the hardest proposition to interview in this neck of the woods.

"You see," a waiting lawyer explained, "the more you ask him the less he will answer."

Just then the judge flashed by. He swings through the outer room and rushes to his desk as if he thought it was on fire and he was the fire department.

Judge Anderson isn't fussy; like some other judges, about folks coming into his private office. And being more than tolerably shrewd, the judge gets between his caller and the window. That throws the light on the other fellow's face, and the judge's countenance—he wears a pained and worried face—is in the shade.

"So you are a newspaper man?" he observes, with a quick, searching look, piling a few letters here, scratching around his desk there, opening other letters and scribbling notes.

"What do you want to know? Whether I beat my wife? Do I pay my debts? How is it I keep out of jail? I don't think the people care anything about what I do, or what I am, and, furthermore I don't intend to talk about myself, and I'm not going to.

"I was born in Zionsville, Boone county, this state, fifty-five years ago last February. I grew up, went to school, studied law and have been a judge ten years; you can get more information about me in 'Who's Who in America.' Good morning, sir!"

Yes, the judge has a peculiar judicial temperament all his own. Some folks here in Indianapolis say he's "cranky." Others think he's too "grouchy." But at that, most people like him. They think he is fair and honest, and decides questions of law on their merits.

Judge Anderson was admitted to the bar thirty-one years ago, and practiced law at Crawfordsville, where he was prosecuting attorney several years. President Roosevelt made him a federal district judge in 1902. Seven years later Judge Anderson refused to send the defendants in the Panama libel case to Washington for trial, thus practically knocking out Roosevelt's case against the publishers of the Indianapolis News and New York World.

A year later Colonel Roosevelt met Harry New, Indiana republican boss, at a reception in Indianapolis. Judge Anderson was there, too.

"Is that the judge who decided the libel case?" asked T. R. of New.

"He is," replied New, who had opposed Anderson's appointment, but who was then on friendly terms with the judge.

"Well," came back Roosevelt, "he is a jackass and a crook!"

Before then the judge had gotten on the Roosevelt nerves, for when he was presiding at the second Standard Oil case, which later on resulted in a $29,000,000 fine being plastered (temporarily) on the oil octopus, he refused to admit certain evidence that was afterwards allowed by Judge Landis.

Judge Anderson is a graduate of Wabash college. He is married. His law library, provided by the government in the federal building, has a ceiling of gold which cost $35,000, but he spends more time looking up cases in his little, time-worn library out at his home on North Pennsylvania street.

HAD LIVED HERE FOR SIXTY YEARS

came directly to Fort Wayne, making the last lap of the journey, from Toledo to this city, by way of the old Wabash and Erie canal.

Arriving in Fort Wayne when the city was only a small town consisting of a few widely scattered houses, Mr. Heilbroner engaged in the mercantile business, with his establishment located on Columbia street, which was then the main thoroughfare of Fort Wayne. He retired from active business twenty-five years ago.

Was Widely Known.

Hardly a man in Fort Wayne was more widely or more favorably known than Simon Heilbroner, as he was familiarly known to his friends. He was a man of lofty character, splendid integrity and kindly personality, who enjoyed the unbounded respect and esteem of all who knew him. Mr. Heilbroner took a likely interest in the affairs of the city and despite his advanced age he was very active. He always enjoyed talking about the early days in Fort Wayne, and would frequently recall the fact that an open creek crossed Wayne street, near Harrison, when he first took possession of his property on the former thoroughfare.

Every summer for many years Mr. Heilbroner insisted upon managing a small garden in the rear of his home, and this summer took particular pride in displaying his garden products to his friends.

Mr. Heilbroner was married in Fort Wayne October 14, 1859, to Miss Amelia Mayer. Surviving he leaves one son and three daughters: Louis Heilbroner and Miss Carrie Heilbroner, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. N. M. Jacobs, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Joseph Klopfer, of Dayton.

REIMER IN FORT WAYNE.

Candidate for President on Socialist Labor Ticket Talks.

Arthur E. Reimer, presidential candidate on the socialist-labor ticket addressed a small but enthusiastic audience last night at the assembly room of the court house. Mr. Reimer in forceful manner described what he terms to be conditions of oppression to which the working people are subjected. He also attacked the socialist party, which he declared branched from the party which he represents in 1899.

He pointed out that all economic suffering, adverse labor legislation, court decisions and the like have their roots in the workshops of the land—where the worker has no voice in the administration, and where the capitalist proprietor, corporation and trust are in full control.

For this state of affairs Reimer claims there is but one remedy, the adoption of the program of the socialist labor party, which calls for a representative industrial administration elected by and responsible to the workers, organized as they must be into an industrial government. "Capture the workshops," is Reimer's message, "and you will have attained the power to end every injustice suffered under the present system."

AUTO HITS EAGLE.

Lawrenceburg Man Catches Bird in Strange Manner.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Oct. 1.—John W. Oberting, aged 32, trustee of Lawrenceburg township, captured a large black eagle in a peculiar way recently. He was driving his automobile along the pike near Lawrenceburg Junction at a high rate of speed. The eagle struck the glass windshield, shattering it and hitting Mr. Oberting a stunning blow in the face. The machine went over an embankment and struck an oak tree.

The big bird was trying to fasten its talons in a pig when Oberting's car passed around a curve in the road. The contact with the heavy glass windshield so stunned the eagle that Oberting had little difficulty in capturing it. He wired its wings and legs to bring it to this city and placed it in a cage. The damage to the machine will cost $300 to repair.

The eagle will be killed, mounted and presented to the local arie of Eagles.

WOMAN KEPT FROM CHURCH.

Cruel Husband Also Refused to Allow Spouse to Go Calling.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 1.—Clementine Smith has asked for a divorce from Arnold Smith in the superior court on the ground that her husband objected to her belonging to the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church and discouraged the children from going to Sunday school.

She charged that her husband even frowned on her calling on members of the society or having them at her home, although they were refined and cultured people. She recited that at one time when she went to make a call and left the children in proper surroundings her husband came home and locked her out and locked the children in. She said the children escaped and came to stay with her.

She stated in the complaint that she had been compelled at all times to get up in the mornings to make the fires and that she had made all the children's clothing and had done her own washing.

THE MARKETS

ADVANCE ON BUTTER.

A Scarcity Causes Increase on Prices—Markets Quiet.

Butter advanced this morning at the commission houses 2 cents a pound on all grades. The cause is its scarcity. There was but very little on the local markets to-day. Eggs were also scarce, selling at 30@32c. Apples show an advance, too. But there is an abundance of vegetables. The Barr street market was flooded with vegetables this morning. The grain market is uncommonly quiet. There is but very little coming into the city and prices remain stationary.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 1.—Worse threatenings of war in the Balkans put strength to-day into wheat. An unexpected decrease in the European visible supply tended also to help the bulls. In addition receipts northwest of here were light. December started at 90¾c to 90½@90¾c and rose to 90¾c.

Despite profit taking, the market hardened still further. Lack of export demand, however, brought about a setback. The close was steady with December ¾@¾c net higher at 90¾c.

Corn took the upgrade with wheat. December opened ¼@½c dearer at 52¾c to 52¾c and rallied to 53¾c.

After an additional upturn, the market fell back when wheat began to waver. The close was easy, ¼@½c net lower for December at 52⅝@52¾c.

A fair demand kept oats steady. December started at 31¾c to 31⅞c and seemed inclined to hold within those limits.

In spite of liberal hog receipts, first sales in provisions varied from a shade off to a gain of 10c. January went at $18.40 for pork, $10.57½ for lard and $9.82½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 1.—Prices ended sharply downward at the opening of to-day's stock market, losses embracing practically all of the active list. Candian Pacific declined 1¾. Northern Pacific a point and the Harriman issues material fractions. Steel opened with a block of 6,000 shares at a maximum loss of almost a point. Coolers and the copper stocks were similarly weak.

Increased depression in London and the decision of the treasury department not to facilitate the movement of crops by deposits in national banks impelled further liquidation in the stock market today.

Opening quotations were generally lower, in some instances extending to a point or over, with heaviness greatest in Canadian Pacific and Northern Pacific. Steel, too, was pressed for sale in round amounts. From this there was some recovery, all of which was lost before noon, however, when call money rose to 7 per cent. Bonds were easy.

The market closed irregular with few exceptions; the entire list went to its highest level in the last hour. Reading, St. Paul, Chesapeake & Ohio and Canadian Pacific were features of especial prominence. Steel reflected continued pressure.

HE DOESN'T KNOW WHO FIXES PRICE

President Cowan Testifies Regarding Purchase of Crude Oil

IN CHICAGO HEARING

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Examination of W. P. Cowan, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana was taken up today before Edward D. Pomeroy, commissioner, to take testimony for the circuit court at St. Louis, in the fight being waged by H. Clay Pierce against certain stockholders of the Standard company over the control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

Replying to questions by counsel for Mr. Pierce, Mr. Cowan said the Indiana company purchased all of its crude oil from the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Ohio Oil company. He said both formerly were subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. The witness said he did not know who fixed the price of crude oil.

He was asked why his company never had built a station at Quincy, Ill.

"We sell a few persons there, but never thought it worth while to build a tsation," Mr. Cowan replied.

"Is there another town in Illinois, excepting Quincy with a population of more than 2,000 in which you do not solicit business?"

"I think there is one but I cannot name it."

S. W. Fordyce, Jr., counsel for Mr. Pierce, attempted to bring out through the witness that since the dissolution ordered by the United States supreme court that the Standard Oil company had confined its construction of new stations in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Missouri. Mr. Cowan said he believed the company did business in all the states in the union.

The witness then read a letter from George W. Meyer dated February 17, 1912, in which he resigned as manager for the Standard company at Kansas City to become a director of the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

"Have you seen Mr. Meyer since that time?" Mr. Cowan was asked.

"I only saw him once and then I merely bowed to him."

On cross examination Mr. Cowan said that John D. Archbold, Charles Pratt, Henry C. Folger, Jr., J. A. Moffett, A. C. Bedford and W. C. Tagle have had no connection with the management of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, since the resignation as directors.

Mr. Cowan declared since the dissolution proceedings the Standard Oil company of Indiana had no connection with subsidiary corporations of the old Standard Oil company of New Jersey except in ordinary merchandising transactions.

MURPHY WILL NOT DICTATE

New York Democrats Will Make An "Unbossed" Nomination.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The problem of "unbossed" nominations by a political convention, three-fourths of the membership of which is repueed to be in the control of one man, confronts the democracy af New York, meeting here at noon today in state convention. The situation in unique in that Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, has declared that he will not seek to dictate the nomination for governor, although it has been asserted that, did he so desire, he could control 400 of the 450 votes in the convention.

There was a belief today that this convention would abandon the system of voting under the unit rule.
